ABOUT INGENHOVEN ARCHITECTS

In 1985, Christoph Ingenhoven founded the architectural studio of ingenhoven architects which has today become one of the world's leading architectural practices in sustainable design. The determining factor in ingenhoven architects' work is sustainability; a holistic approach consolidated within the concept of supergreen[®], that considers the well-being of the occupants, social aspects, technical innovation, logical structures, as well as great sensitivity towards the urban environment, light and space. Their projects aim for sustainable and ecological architecture with a minimum consumption of energy and resources with the highest utilisation comfort. Highest ratings under Green Star in Australia, British BREEAM standard, LEED, Green Mark, Minergie Standard in Switzerland and CASBEE system in Japan are clear proof of the aspiration.

They were honoured for their projects with numerous national and international awards, the Global Holcim Awards Gold for the Mainstation Stuttgart, the RIBA International Awards for the European Investment Bank, Luxembourg, the BCA Construction Excellence Award for 71 Robinson Road, Singapore, the Green Good Design Award for the Oeconomicum of the University Duesseldorf, the Asia Pacific Property Awards 2012 for Marina One.
